

Copenhagen, 27.06.01

Dear Participant of Scancon II,

Below is the schedule of the announced activities of our meeting next weekend. Unfortunately I haven't been able to send out this information any sooner. If it reaches you at the last possible moment, at least you have received the essentials on the phone.

One thing should be brought to your attention: When planning the conference we were not aware of the fact that the gigantic annual "carnival" in Copenhagen is to be held the same weekend. The centre of the city is going to be absolutely jammed with people, presumably starting Saturday morning and lasting until Monday. Therefore, if you would like to see Copenhagen, I advise you to go on Friday, before going to Nerre Allé 75.

Friday, June 5.

- 7 p.m. Meeting at Sognst. H. Petersens Kollegium
Nerre Allé 75
- 10 p.m. Dinner at a restaurant

Saturday, June 6.

- 12.30 Dr. James Lennox: Aristotle's Philosophy of Science
- 3.30 p.m. Klaus Norby: From Kant to Kantinsky

Sunday, June 7.

- 12.30 Henrik Unné: Introduction on Dictatorship, Democracy or Capitalism followed by discussion
- 3 p.m. If possible, an excursion to the Thorvaldsen Museum*

Please note that this is not to be taken as an exhaustive programme for the weekend. The small scale of this meeting allows for extensive on-the-spot planning, and participants may decide on various additional activities.

*) As a result of a current strike all museums are closed. If the Thorvaldsen Museum is not open on Sunday it will be possible to visit the small cathedral Vor Frue Kirke in connection with the services at 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., to see Thorvaldsen's sculptures of Christ and the apostles. It should be well worth the trouble.

I look forward to seeing you for a hopefully rewarding exchange of ideas.

Sincerely yours,

Bo Dragsted
